(E-mail Address: seisan_daigakuin@ml.nagasaki-u.ac.jp)

7. Methods of Selection

Applicants will be selected through interviews, oral examinations, short essays, and English proficiency evaluations. Questions are to be given and answered in English.

No written test is administered for English (the score of one of the foreign language examinations listed in “Appendix” (refer to the above) taken within the past three years from the date of the examination shall be converted and used).

(1) Examination Date

Examination for Spring Application

(Designated by the Graduate School during the following period)

From Tuesday, 9 June, 2026 to Friday, 12 June, 2026

Note: The Student Affairs Division will notify the details of the date and time for the examination.

(2) Allocation of points for the Academic Achievement Examination

Short Essay and Oral Examination	Interview	English	Total score
60	20	20	100

(3) Criteria for Acceptance (Pass/Fail Evaluation Criteria)

The successful applicants will be determined in descending order of their total scores from the academic achievement examination, etc. However, if the interview score is significantly low, the applicant may be deemed unsuccessful, regardless of their performance in the academic achievement examination.

The short essay, oral examination, and interview will be evaluated in the following methods.

Evaluation Methods for Short Essay and Oral Examination

A short essay and an oral examination in English will be conducted, and the basic academic abilities, fundamental knowledge in the water environment field, and English proficiency of the applicant will be comprehensively evaluated.

A short essay and Oral examination

Applicants will take a short essay and an oral examination to comprehensively evaluate their foundational academic skills, basic knowledge in the water environment field, and English proficiency. The short essay must be written in English in a free-form style, within 800 words on two pages of the designated A4 form, and submitted at the time of application. The essay topic should be the research plan the applicant intends to pursue after admission. Evaluation will assess foundational academic skills, basic knowledge in the water environment field, and English proficiency based on logical writing skills using correct specialized terminology.

Questions will be asked in English based on the content written in the essay to evaluate whether the applicant has correctly acquired foundational academic skills and basic knowledge in the water environment field.

Evaluation Method for Interview

The interview will be conducted in an individual interview format by multiple examiners. Referring to the application documents, the applicant's motivation for applying, enthusiasm for learning, study status, and sociability will be comprehensively evaluated.

(4) Entrance examination over the Internet:

International students outside Japan may be eligible for Online Examinations. Applicants wishing to opt for this must consult their prospective academic supervisor in advance.

8. Examination Venue

Faculty of Information and Data Science Building, School of Engineering Building, Faculty of Environmental Science Building, Faculty of Fisheries Building, Nagasaki University

1-14 Bunkyo, Nagasaki, Japan 852-8521

9. Notes on the Examination

- (1) On the afternoon before the examination, notices specifying the rendezvous points for the day of the exam will be posted at the entrance of the Engineering Building No.1's piloti. Applicants are advised to confirm their examination rooms (rendezvous points); however, they are not allowed to enter the rooms.
- (2) Applicants must bring the Admission Ticket issued by the Graduate School of Integrated Science and Technology on the examination day.
- (3) Applicants must be at the designated rendezvous point 20 minutes before the examination starts. (Latecomers will not be permitted to take the examination.)
- (4) All cellular phones must be turned off before entering the examination room.
